Nancy Graves (1939-1995) was an American artist known for her sculptures, paintings, drawings, watercolors, and prints. She also produced five avant-garde films and created innovative set designs. Her work has been featured in hundreds of museum and gallery exhibitions and is included in the permanent collections of major art museums internationally. The Nancy Graves Foundation was established by Graves through her Last Will and Testament in 1996. In addition to the annual grant program, the Foundation supports exhibitions, research, publications, educational programming, and the preparation of a Catalogue Raisonné of Nancy Graves' work. The Foundation maintains a collection of her work, along with a library and archive of original papers, photographs, recordings, publications, and research materials, which are available to scholars by appointment in the Foundation's research library.
